Selectwoman's Corner

As we look back on the last three months, things have been fairly quiet in our fair Town. Yes, we have had to deal with several storms that either caused delayed openings or closed schools, and even Town Hall. But in comparison to last year, when we were reeling from the tragedy in Newtown, followed by a major blizzard that shut us down for three days, things are somewhat calm. On the other hand, there are LOTS of projects going on that are keeping us quite busy.

The WPCA/ Wastewater Management study was completed by our engineering firm of Woodard and Curran and presented to the WPCA at their December meeting. The WPCA voted on a recommendation by Woodard and Curran to propose a local solution for the shoreline area that would provide a low profile treatment facility, subsurface dispersal of the effluent, and accommodations for reuse during peak flow periods. The final draft was submitted to the CT DEEP for their review, and we await their feedback. Because this is an innovative approach for our state, it may take some time to work out the permitting process and details for the system. The WPCA is feeling very optimistic about the proposal and continues to do its regular work as we wait to hear more.

On another subject, the Route 156 Bike Path and Sound View Improvements Project, under the leadership of Selectwoman Mary Jo Nosal, continues to progress. The Committee has almost completed the negotiations on the Scope of Work, which has taken a bit longer than anticipated. Once completed, we will present the final amount to the Board of Selectmen for approval. While the full amount of the first phase will go to a Town Meeting for approval, the CT DOT is funding 80% of the cost. We anticipate that the Town Meeting will be sometime in late March or early April. Stay tuned for more information on this.

The Boathouse - Hains Park Improvements Committee has begun their work with eight very qualified committee members led by Selectman Skip Sibley. The Town of Old Lyme was awarded a STEAP grant for $478,000 to expand the boathouse at Rogers Lake, as well as install new, safer docks, and other improvements to Hains Park. We are very lucky to have some very talented people willing to help with the project, with expertise in the sport of rowing, architecture, project management and finance. Having just begun the process, I am sure there will be much more to report in the Summer Old Lyme Events.

Our Senior Center has become a hub of activity for many people in our community, so it was quite a blow to our programs when it was closed due to bacterial contamination of the well. The good news is that many organizations came to our aid, proving once again the collaborative spirit of our community. Our Meals on Wheels has not lost a day due to the closure, thanks to the First Congregational Church of Old Lyme. With less than 24 hours notice, they opened their kitchen to the program five days a week! Other programs such as yoga, iPad classes, and painting have been scheduled in the Phoebe Griffin Noyes Library, Lymes Youth Service Bureau and even the Lyme Art Association. These organizations graciously welcomed the program participants with open arms. Stephanie Lyon, our Sr. Center Coordinator, worked hard to keep programs in place, and Sonia Marino, our Sanitarian, was instrumental in getting an approval from the State of CT for a newly drilled well within 24 hours - a process that can take up to a month. All of these people and organizations are certainly deserving of our thanks!

The Town of Old Lyme has demonstrated its commitment to the environment through our town issued recycling bins that allow single stream recycling for all residents. It really could not be easier for our residents - anything that can be recycled can go in the green bins. But as a forward thinking community, we continue to look for opportunities to reduce waste and increase recycling, and we just recently found out that we are getting financial support on that front! The CT DEEP announced that it is offering Recycling Incentive Grants for communities committed to improving. Thanks to the efforts of Cathy Frank, the Town of Old Lyme was the first community to be awarded this grant. The $16,000 award will allow us to work with a consultant to develop innovative ways to increase recycling, educate our residents on the benefits of recycling, and become a model community for others to follow. A committee is now being formed to work on the project, which will include Gary Yuknat from Shoreline Sanitation, who currently provides our trash and recycling service. Gary has been an advocate for recycling for some time and will be an asset on the project. This is a great opportunity and we are delighted to have received this grant!

As many of you already know, the Town of Old Lyme has hired Vision Government Solutions, Inc. to complete the state-mandated revaluation program. Revaluation has been ongoing since October, and will continue through October of 2014. All data collectors have their cars registered with our Police Dept. and carry a photo ID badge, as well as a letter of identification from the Assessor. They have been working in several areas already, recording exterior measurements and conducting interior inspections. The reassessment project will establish market value as of October 1, 2014, which will be reflected in the tax bills issued in the summer of 2015. All property owners and tenants are respectfully requested to cooperate with data collectors to insure that accurate information is used in the revaluation process. Any property owners who have questions concerning the revaluation process can contact the Assessor's Office during working hours at 860-434-1605 ext. 219.

The Planning Commission has been hard at work for months reviewing the Public Improvements Regulations and updating them for this century. The document has been shared with all of our agencies within town, including Public Works, the Fire Department, EMS and Tree Commission, to name a few. Comments and suggestions are being forwarded to the Planning Commission and they will edit as necessary. Ultimately, the Public Improvements Regulations will go to a Town Meeting for final approval.

Another area that we are focusing on is our Natural Hazards Mitigation Plan, which requires updating in order to qualify for special grant funding in the case of disasters. We are lucky to have the services of Jeremy DeCarli, through the Lower Connecticut River Valley Council of Governments. Jeremy has been updating the NHMP for several communities within the RiverCOG, so is familiar with the requirements of DEEP and FEMA. Without his help, it would be a much more arduous task for our land use department. A committee has been formed to review the Plan, and make sure it meets the needs of our community. It will then need to be approved by the Board of Selectmen, CT DEEP, FEMA, and finally, at a Town Meeting. We anticipate this to be completed by the summer. Thank you to Jeremy DeCarli and the Committee for helping us on this requirement!

With all of this work going on in the Land Use Department, we will have to carry on without our leader, as Ann Brown, Land Use Coordinator, has announced her retirement. She has agreed to stay on until we hire her replacement, which should be sometime before the start of Spring. Ann has served the Town of Old Lyme for 12 years as Zoning Enforcement Officer and Inland Wetlands Enforcement Officer. We thank her for her dedication and wish her well in her retirement! She will be missed by many.

Our Annual Town Meeting was held on January 27th in the Town Hall Meeting Hall. At that time, we accepted our FY 2013 Town Report, which was beautifully compiled by Michele Dickey and focused on the year of unusual storms. Copies are currently available at Town Hall. We also accepted a donation of land, 72 Pond Rd., from the Old Lyme Development Corporation, which is the western half of the Town Parking Lot in Sound View. The land was originally purchased by William Pike for the enjoyment by our citizens. In order to continue with the improvements to the Parking lot, it is necessary for the Town to have the deed to the land.

Finally, the Board of Selectmen named Peter Cable as the 2013 Citizen of the Year. Peter has quietly served the Town in many ways, on the Open Space Committee, and continuing when it became a Commission. In addition, he serves on the High School Building Committee, as well as the CT River Gateway Commission. Peter Cable is always willing to lend a hand. When soliciting volunteers to visit our citizens who sought shelter at the East Lyme Middle School during Storm Sandy, Peter was one of the first to offer assistance. We are grateful for his good deeds, and congratulate Peter Cable on this honor!

The Board of Selectmen wish you all a wonderful Spring - I am sure we are all happy to see it arrive!

Chamber Update

It was a full house at the Bee & Thistle Inn for our Annual Holiday Dinner in December! All enjoyed a delightful holiday concert by the Select Singers from Lyme Old Lyme High School (Thanks to Kristine Pekar!). Kudos to Linnea Rufo & staff for a delicious dinner and memorable event.

On January 16, we welcomed new Lyme Art Association Executive Director Joe Newman at a Business with Pleasure reception at the Lyme Art Association.

In February, our dinner meeting at The Hideaway featured Dr. Scott Colley, President of the Lyme Academy College of Fine Arts, as the featured speaker.

On March 14, from 5:00 to 8:00 pm, all are welcome to enjoy delicious refreshments and a Student Art Exhibit at Paving the Way to a Brighter Future. This is a Chamber Reception at the Lyme Academy College of Fine Arts to support the Chamber scholarship to be awarded to a high school senior continuing a business education after graduation. Please help us support the next generation of business professionals!

Finally, our annual celebration of business - Taste of Lymes Business Expo - returns to the Old Lyme Country Club on Sunday, April 27, from 3:00 to 5:00 pm. Stop by for "a taste" of the many goods & services offered by our Chamber members. The event features demos by local chefs and food samplings from member restaurants & caterers. Mark your calendars!

Please check www.VisitOldLyme.com for updates to our schedule - & don't forget to "BUY LOCAL."

Cable Advisory Council Seeks Volunteers from East Haddam & Lyme

The Old Lyme Area Cable Advisory Council consists of representatives from Old Lyme, Salem, East Haddam, Lyme, and Haddam Neck.

State regulations require each represented town to appoint one or more town residents as Advisory Council members. The number of required representatives is based on population. The Board of Education in each town is also required to appoint one member of the advisory council.

In the past few years, the Old Lyme Area Advisory Council has actively promoted public access in our towns through press releases and a book mark promotion. The Council also started a grant program to provide audio/video equipment for member towns and school districts, and a scholarship program for students attending high school in member towns. To date, 12 local students have received scholarships from the Advisory Council.

A vacancy currently exists on the Old Lyme Area Cable Advisory Council for representatives from East Haddam and Lyme. Please contact the Board of Selectmen in your town if you are interested in serving on the Council.

The Advisory Council meets quarterly, alternating the meeting locations among member towns. The next meeting is scheduled for Thursday, April 10 at 7:30 pm in the Old Lyme Town Hall. All meetings are open to the public.

Child & Family Agency Lyme Old Lyme Auxiliary

"Intake Day" Tuesday, April 22 – Old Lyme
Congregational Church 10:00 am - 4:00 pm

For the uninitiated, Intake Day is a spring ritual, marking a time to find, dust off, clean, repair and donate those valued, but little-used items in your care, to benefit The Child & Family Agency of Southeastern Connecticut. On Tuesday April 22, from 10:00 am to 4:00 pm, at the First Congregational Church of Old Lyme on Ferry Road, members of the Lyme Old Lyme Auxiliary of Child and Family Agency will be standing by to greet and assist with your donated items. Please use the Ferry Road entrance. Tax donation letters will be available on site, and specialty art or jewelry items will be appreciated and handled with care. If you need assistance with unusual or bulkier items, pick-ups may be able to be arranged in advance by contacting Teri Lewis at 860-227-7913.

The auxiliary will collect, sort, box and then transport your contributions to the New London Armory for a bonanza, 3-day fundraiser which has earned a reputation for being one of the "Largest Tag Sales in New England." This year's 60th Annual Sale will be held May 1, 2, & 3 at a new, yet old venue - the New London Armory at 249 Bayonet Street New London, CT 06320.

The motto Bring the Best and Leave the Rest has made the town of Old Lyme a standard bearer for "quality" donations which help to provide for an increasingly successful fund raiser. Proceeds go directly to support the many extraordinary services provided by Child & Family Agency, a non-profit organization which has served Connecticut families for over 200 years.

Today, programs deal with children's health care, childcare, parent education, children's mental health, child abuse prevention, the treatment of family violence, and teen pregnancy. Child-care and out-of-school programs benefit from volunteers who read one-on-one with children, share a hobby, an athletic skill or a special talent with a classroom, are homework buddies or create sets and costumes for their exciting theatre productions. To join the auxiliary or to volunteer today, please call 860-443-2896.

Your collective donations make a difference every year in the lives of the children and families served, but in times of economic turmoil your support is crucial, helping to stabilize some very fragile lives. Last year over 17,000 children and their family members from 79 towns were helped by the agency's staff of 175 dedicated professionals. For more information about the work of Child & Family, visit www.childandfamilyagency.org.

Common Core: A Good Fit for Connecticut?

Across Connecticut and across the United States, this is a school year of significant educational reform. The Common Core State Standards and new curricula aligned with them, a new teacher evaluation model, the frequent progress monitoring of student learning, and a changeover from Connecticut Mastery testing to computer-based Smarter Balanced assessment have confronted students and teachers returning to class.

Common Core is a high-impact national initiative in public education designed to prepare students in grades K-12 for higher education and the workplace. The Connecticut State Board of Education adopted the Common Core State Standards in 2010 without critical input from parents, educators, experts and community stakeholders. Initially, 45 states including Connecticut adopted the Common Core State Standards. However, at least 15 legislatures are now reconsidering and either delaying or prohibiting implementation of the Common Core out of concern that the standards are not properly crafted to adequately benefit students.

I have introduced a bill to the legislature's Education Committee that would delay Common Core implementation in Connecticut pending public hearings with parents, education experts, teachers, school administrators and community stakeholders.

While education reform is serious, Connecticut must embark on a path that balances rigor with creativity; high standards with individual needs; and gets it right for our students, their learning, and their future.

State Representative Marilyn Giuliano

State Rep. Marilyn Giuliano represents Lyme, Old Lyme, Old Saybrook and Westbrook in the Connecticut General Assembly and is a member of the legislature's Education Committee.

Solar Panel News from the O. L. Conservation Commission

A number of towns in Connecticut have recently participated in a new plan to expand the use of solar panels by homeowners. The new plan calls for neighboring towns to form a large group of citizens ready, willing, and able to have solar panels installed on their properties at a group rate. The program is called CT Solar Challenge. Substantial savings are derived by eliminating the normal marketing and advertising costs and by installing up to fifty systems in the same geographic area by the same vendor. The incentive for the sponsoring town comes in the form of a free solar installation on a town building. The savings have convinced those who previously thought that solar panel installation was beyond their means to go ahead and install a system, and as more and more families participate the costs continue to go down. Old Lyme has been invited to participate in this highly successful model. The CT Solar Challenge is a complete program that requires nothing from the town but a commitment to promote the program, the use of town meeting spaces and existing communication channels, and a team of willing volunteers to explain the program. Their website is www.CTSolarChallenge.com. Volunteers and those who want to go solar should contact the first selectman's office at www.OldLymeCt-gov.

The State of Connecticut's Clean Energy Fund now known as the Clean Energy Finance and Investment Authority also has a leasing program for solar panels in conjunction with their solar rebate program. Details can be found at ctsolarlease.com. Leasing has the advantage of a single monthly payment as well as maintenance and repair by the leasing company.

Don't forget that now is the time to have your house checked for RADON gas, the colorless, odorless gas that can kill. Get a free test kit from Town Hall and test your house now. While you are at it, get a free water test bottle at Town Hall and have your water tested as well.

WPCA and Wastewater Management Study

The WPCA continues to work on plans to improve wastewater management through the development of sewers for identified critical areas of need.

The WPCA and Woodard and Curran, the engineering firm contracted to research the areas of need, have submitted a Wastewater Management Plan to the State Department of Energy and Environmental Protection (DEEP).

As of this writing, DEEP is reviewing the Plan through various departments and is expected to provide comments and/or questions in early March.

The proposed Wastewater Management Plan and other educational materials are available via www.oldlyme-ct.gov under Current Projects, as well as on the WPCA page.

When the DEEP review process is complete, a Public

Information meeting for residents will be scheduled to review the plan and recommendations.

The WPCA's Wastewater Management Plan considers all options. Both the WPCA and its contracted engineering firm believe the best option will be a local solution instead of connecting to the New London treatment plant, which would require negotiating with the towns of East Lyme, Niantic, Waterford, and New London.

The final, approved Wastewater Management Plan will improve the current areas of need and benefit the town by keeping the water local to help recharge our aquifers and by helping us best manage our future. We appreciate the hard work that both the WPCA and the engineering firm have done to make this happen. There is still a lot of work ahead, but great progress has been made!

Contemporary Classics Book Discussions facilitated by Marsha Bansavage. First Monday of the month from 7:00 - 8:30 pm unless otherwise noted.

March 3, Fahrenheit 451 by Ray Bradbury. The classic dystopian novel of a post-literate future, Fahrenheit 451 stands alongside Orwell's 1984 and Huxley's Brave New World as a prophetic account of Western civilization's enslavement by the media, drugs and conformity. Bradbury's powerful and poetic prose combines with uncanny insight into the potential of technology to create a novel which, decades after its first publication, still has the power to dazzle and shock. (GoodReads.com)

April 7, Readers Choice: The Great Gatsby or Tender is the Night by F. Scott Fitzgerald. In 1922, F. Scott Fitzgerald announced his decision to write "something new - something extraordinary and beautiful and simple and intricately patterned." That extraordinary, beautiful, intricately patterned, and above all, simple novel became The Great Gatsby, arguably Fitzgerald's finest work and certainly the book for which he is best known. A portrait of the Jazz Age in all of its decadence and excess, Gatsby captured the spirit of the author's generation and earned itself a permanent place in American mythology. (GoodReads.com).

May 5, Yellow Birds by Kevin Powers. "The war tried to kill us in the spring," begins this breathtaking account of friendship and loss. In Al Tafari, Iraq, twenty-one-year old Private Bartle and eighteen-year-old Private Murphy cling to life as their platoon launches a bloody battle for the city. In the endless days that follow, the two young soldiers do everything to protect each other from the forces that press in on every side: the insurgents, physical fatigue, and the mental stress that comes from constant danger. With profound emotional insight, especially into the effects of a hidden war on mothers and families at home, The Yellow Birds is a groundbreaking novel about the costs of war that is destined to become a classic. (GoodReads.com).

Phoebe's Book Chat, Second Thursdays of the month at 11:00 am - 12:00 pm.

March 13, Hotel on the Corner of Bitter and Sweet by Jamie Ford. Set during one of the most conflicted and volatile times in American history, Hotel on the Corner of Bitter and Sweet is an extraordinary story of commitment and enduring hope.

In Henry and Keiko, Jamie Ford has created an unforgettable duo whose story teaches us of the power of forgiveness and the human heart. (GoodReads.com).

April 10, The Aviator's Wife by Melanie Benjamin. Drawing on the rich history of the twentieth century - from the late twenties to the mid-sixties - and featuring cameos from such notable characters as Joseph Kennedy and Amelia Earhart, The Aviator's Wife is a vividly imagined novel of a complicated marriage - revealing both its dizzying highs and its devastating lows. With stunning power and grace, Melanie Benjamin provides new insight into what made this remarkable relationship endure. (MelanieBenjamin.com).

May 8, The Astronaut Wives Club by Lily Koppel. "As America's Mercury Seven astronauts were launched on death-defying missions, television cameras focused on the brave smiles of their young wives. Overnight, these women were transformed from military spouses into American royalty. They had tea with Jackie Kennedy, appeared on the cover of Life magazine, and quickly grew into fashion icons. Together with the other wives they formed the Astronaut Wives Club, meeting regularly to provide support and friendship.

As their celebrity rose - and as divorce and tragic death began to touch their lives - they continued to rally together, and the wives have now been friends for more than fifty years. The Astronaut Wives Club tells the real story of the women who stood beside some of the biggest heroes in American history." (Amazon.com).

June 12, The Burgess Boys by Elizabeth Strout. "How do you build empathy for the characters in your book? Make them suffer. That's an old trick of the trade, and Elizabeth Strout, the Pulitzer-winning author of Olive Kitteridge, uses it brilliantly in The Burgess Boys ... Strout conveys what it feels like to be an outsider very well, whether she's delving into the quiet inner lives of Somalis in Shirley Falls or showing how the Burgess kids got so alienated from one another. But the details are so keenly observed, you can connect with the characters despite their apparent isolation ... [a] gracefully written novel. Grade: A." -Entertainment Weekly.

Massenet's Werther, March 15, Registration Deadline: Friday March 7. Based on a novella by Goethe that recounts the sufferings, existential and romantic, of a young man who falls helplessly in love with a married woman. She, against her will, is pulled toward him. Werther believes that every half-drawn line making up his metaphorical self-portrait will be completed only if Charlotte can be his. She will not leave her husband, so Werther chooses to die by his own hand. Werther's depiction of romantic love as a dangerous and destructive madness that does not enrich life but devours it is set to music of torrent-borne beauty.

Puccini's La Bohème, April 5, Registration deadline Friday, March 28. Of all the works staged by the Metropolitan Opera since it opened in 1883, La Bohème is the most frequently performed. Puccini's enthralling tunes, 19th century bohemian Parisian setting and the romantic entanglements of its sympathetic characters explain its popularity. In a way, La Bohème is everyone's story - per Wordsworth - when "to be young was very heaven"! Youthful delusions are dispelled when death crashes the party: The opera's heroine succumbs to tuberculosis before the final curtain, leaving her lover bereft. Few weather his heartbreak dry-eyed, since Puccini's score summarizes an epoch of a mature person's experience that can never be recaptured, only recalled.

Mozart's Così fan tutte, April 26, Registration Deadline: Friday April 18. Così fan Tutte horrified Beethoven, but not on account of its music, which he revered. It was the opera's cynical libretto, by Lorenzo da Ponte, which knocked women off the pedestals where romantics like Beethoven preferred to perch them, that distressed the great composer. Two men test their lovers' constancy by pretending to go off to war; they return disguised to woo (and win) them. Handicapping the fidelity test are Don Alfonso, a world-weary rake who has seen it all, and the women's maid, Despina, who would have stars in her eyes only if she slapped her face with her dishtowel. Così's paradox is its bittersweet depiction of human frailty by music of divine loftiness.

Hope is Power

Exercise Group Bonds Cancer Survivors

Laughter. Joy. A lightness of spirit. Camaraderie. These are terms that are not often connected to the word "cancer," but if you spend any time with the Hope is Power class at the Valley Shore YMCA in Westbrook, that's exactly what you'll experience.

Hope is Power is offered in collaboration and with the financial support of Middlesex Hospital. It is a free, 12-week program for adult cancer survivors designed to empower them to overcome the effects of fatigue and deconditioning from cancer and its treatment. The overall goal of the group is to improve participants' functional capacity and quality of life through an organized fitness program in a small group setting. The program was established in 2010 and now has an advanced level class for those who want to continue in the program after taking the beginner class.

According to Pat O'Brien, survivorship coordinator at the Middlesex Hospital Cancer Center, "There is an increasing amount of research pointing toward the benefits patients can receive from exercise, in terms of reducing cancer recurrence and improving survival rates."

The program is taught in a safe, fun, relaxed environment for all ages and fitness levels. Cancer experts from Middlesex Hospital also present to the group on a variety of topics, such as nutrition and personal care.

For more information about the next Hope is Power class, call the Valley-Shore YMCA at (860) 399-9622, ext. 121.

The Size-Up - OL Fire Department

Fellow Old Lymers, as you well know we are in the middle of the cold, winter season! Here are a few tips from your OLFD to help make it a safer experience.

Cooking Fire Safety

Many families gather in the kitchen to spend time together, but it can be one of the most hazardous rooms in the house if you don't practice safe cooking behaviors. Cooking equipment, most often a range or stovetop, is the leading cause of reported home fires and home fire injuries in the United States. Cooking equipment is also the leading cause of unreported fires and associated injuries.

Product Safety Tip: Turkey Fryers

It's a recipe for serious injury or even death to wear loose clothing (especially hanging sleeves), walk away from a cooking pot on the stove, or leave items that can catch fire, such as potholders or paper towels, around the stove. Whether you are cooking the family holiday dinner or a snack for the children, practicing safe cooking behaviors will help keep you and your family safe.

Choose the Right Equipment and Use It Properly

- Always use cooking equipment tested and approved by a recognized testing facility.
- Follow manufacturers' instructions and code requirements when installing and operating cooking equipment.
- Plug microwave ovens and other cooking appliances directly into a wall outlet. Never use an extension cord for a cooking appliance - it can overload the circuit and cause a fire.

Watch What You Heat

- The leading cause of fires in the kitchen is unattended cooking.
- Stay in the kitchen when you are frying, grilling, or broiling food. If you leave the kitchen for even a short period of time, turn off the stove.
- If you are simmering, baking, roasting, or boiling food, check it regularly, remain in the home while food is cooking, and use a timer to remind you that you're cooking.
- Stay alert! To prevent cooking fires, you have to be alert. You won't be if you are sleepy, have been drinking alcohol, or have taken medicine that makes you drowsy.

Keep Things That Can Catch Fire and Heat Sources Apart

- Keep anything that can catch fire - potholders, oven mitts, wooden utensils, paper or plastic bags, food packaging, towels, or curtains - away from your stovetop.
- Keep the stovetop, burners, and oven clean.
- Keep pets off cooking surfaces and nearby countertops to prevent them from knocking things onto the burner.
- Wear short, close-fitting or tightly rolled sleeves when cooking. Loose clothing can dangle onto stove burners and catch fire if it comes into contact with a gas flame or electric burner.

If Your Clothes Catch Fire - If your clothes catch fire, stop, drop and roll. Stop immediately, drop to the ground and cover your face with your hands. Roll over and over or back and forth to put out the fire. Immediately cool the burn with cool water for 3 to 5 minutes and cover with a clean, dry cloth. Don't apply creams, ointments, sprays or other home remedies.

Use Equipment for Intended Purposes Only

Cook only with equipment designed and intended for cooking, and heat your home only with equipment designed and intended for heating. There is additional danger of fire, injury, or death if equipment is used for a purpose for which it was not intended.

Protect Children from Scalds and Burns

- Young children are at high risk of being burned by hot food and liquids. Keep children away from cooking areas by enforcing a "kid-free zone" of 3 feet (1 meter) around the stove.
- Keep young children at least 3 feet (1 meter) away from any place where hot food or drink is being prepared or carried. Keep hot foods and liquids away from table and counter edges.
- When young children are present, use the stove's back burners whenever possible.
- Never hold a child while cooking, drinking, or carrying hot foods or liquids.
- Teach children that hot things burn.
- When children are old enough, teach them to cook safely. Supervise them closely.

Prevent Scalds and Burns

- To prevent spills due to overturn of appliances containing hot food or liquids, use the back burner when possible and/or turn pot handles away from the stove's edge. All appliance cords need to be kept coiled and away from counter edges.
- Use oven mitts or potholders when moving hot food from ovens, microwave ovens, or stovetops. Never use wet oven mitts or potholders as they can cause scald burns.
- Replace old or worn oven mitts.
- Treat a burn right away, putting it in cool water. Cool the burn for 3 to 5 minutes. If the burn is bigger than your fist or if you have any questions about how to treat it, seek medical attention right away.

Install and Use Microwave Ovens Safely

- Place or install the microwave oven at a safe height, within easy reach of all users. The face of the person using the microwave oven should always be higher than the front of the microwave oven door. This is to prevent hot food or liquid from spilling onto a user's face or body from above and to prevent the microwave oven itself from falling onto a user.
- Never use aluminum foil or metal objects in a microwave oven. They can cause a fire and damage the oven.
- Heat food only in containers or dishes that are safe for microwave use.
- Open heated food containers slowly away from the face to avoid steam burns. Hot steam escaping from the container or food can cause burns.
- Foods heat unevenly in microwave ovens. Stir and test before eating.

How and When to Fight Cooking Fires

- When in doubt, just get out. When you leave, close the door behind you to help contain the fire. Call 9-1-1 or the local emergency number after you leave.

- If you do try to fight the fire, be sure others are already getting out and you have a clear path to the exit.
- Always keep an oven mitt and a lid nearby when you are cooking. If a small grease fire starts in a pan, smother the flames by carefully sliding the lid over the pan (make sure you are wearing the oven mitt). Turn off the burner. Do not move the pan. To keep the fire from restarting, leave the lid on until the pan is completely cool.
- In case of an oven fire, turn off the heat and keep the door closed to prevent flames from burning you or your clothing.
- If you have a fire in your microwave oven, turn it off immediately and keep the door closed. Never open the door until the fire is completely out. Unplug the appliance if you can safely reach the outlet.
- After a fire, both ovens and microwaves should be checked and/or serviced before being used again.

Nuisance Smoke Alarms

- Smoke alarms should be installed away from the kitchen to prevent false alarms. Generally, they should be at least 10 feet from a cooking appliance.
- A smoke alarm installed within 10 to 20 feet of a cooking appliance must be a photoelectric type or have a hush feature, which temporarily reduces the sensitivity of the alarm.
- If a smoke alarm sounds during normal cooking, press the hush button if the smoke alarm has one. Open the door or window or fan the area with a towel to get the air moving. Do not disable the smoke alarm or take out the batteries.
- Treat every smoke alarm activation as a likely fire and react quickly and safely to the alarm.

Until next time, stay safe out there and have a safe winter season - From Your Friends at the Old Lyme Fire Department.

Old Lyme Historical Society

Community's Support Needed for Historic Grange Hall Purchase

The Old Lyme Historical Society, Inc. has entered into a contract to purchase the historic building located at 55 Lyme Street, currently owned by the Old Lyme Grange #162. A capital campaign has been launched and the Society is seeking widespread community support. Members of the Society's Board have pledged in excess of $75,000 and the organization needs to raise an additional $150,000 to cover the purchase price and necessary improvements. The generosity of the Society's Board Members has played a major role in starting this campaign. With the community's help, the Society will establish a permanent home and distinct presence within the heart of the Historic District of Old Lyme.

A move to this historic building on Lyme Street will mark a major turning point for the Old Lyme Historical Society, an organization that was formed in 2005 to collect, preserve, and interpret the rich history of Old Lyme. Entirely managed by a dedicated group of volunteers, the Society has been renting office space in the Genealogy Room at the Old Lyme - Phoebe Griffin Noyes Library, has its archives temporarily stored in the basement of Town Hall, and hosts events in various public and private spaces in Old Lyme. The 2,600 square foot Grange building will meet the Society's current needs for a permanent temperature controlled archive, periodic exhibits, lectures, meetings, receptions, and a shop for the Society's publications. It is expected that the public will have access to our archive, facilitating the research of local and genealogical histories, and the ability to view exhibitions over longer periods of time.

The Old Lyme Historical Society, Inc. has launched a capital campaign to purchase the hall owned by the Old Lyme Grange #162.

The membership and reach of the Old Lyme Historical Society has grown significantly since 2005. It has produced exhibits and numerous publications, conducted cemetery tours, and held dinner lectures; all in pursuit of its mission to preserve and analyze Old Lyme's social, civic, economic, and political past. A permanent home in the heart of Old Lyme will enable the Society to fulfill its mission more extensively. Contributions in any amount and/or stock transfers to this capital campaign are greatly needed and will be deeply appreciated. The Old Lyme Historical Society, Inc. is a 501(c)(3) non-profit corporation. Tax deductible contributions should be mailed to P.O. Box 352, Old Lyme, CT 06371. More information about the Society, its interesting activities and publications, may be found on its web site www.oldlymehistoricalsociety.org.

A Tribute to the Old Lyme Grange #162

The lobby of the Old Lyme Grange Hall with a display of artifacts.

If you were to drive down Lyme Street on a Sunday evening in 1955 you probably would have found a crowd gathered at the Old Lyme Grange Hall for one of their popular community Sunday suppers. At that time, with an active membership of 253, the Old Lyme Grange #162 was the hub for numerous community activities while also serving as a fraternal organization. However, times have changed and as their numbers have dwindled, the building at 55 Lyme Street has been much quieter. In 2013, the officers made the difficult decision to retire their charter and approached the Old Lyme Historical Society about its interest in purchasing the property.

A history that dates back to the Reconstruction

The Old Lyme Grange was one of approximately sixty Community Grange chapters currently located in Connecticut. This nationwide organization headquartered in Washington D.C. has a hierarchical structure with approximately 160,000 members in 36 states. Officially named The National Grange of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry, the Grange is an American fraternal organization for families that encourages members to organize activities that promote the economic and political well-being of the community and agriculture.

The idea for the Grange was conceived by Oliver Hudson Kelley, who had been commissioned by President Andrew Johnson after the Civil War to tour the Southern States for the purpose of finding ways to improve agricultural conditions. During his travels Kelley found many poor farmers in a war-torn countryside still using outdated farming practices. Kelley was a Mason and believed that a fraternal organization could help unify the north and south by fostering a cooperative spirit, providing opportunities for socialization, while advocating for farmers and providing education on agricultural practices. Kelley then worked together with six other men and one woman to found the Grange in 1867. Paid agents organized local Granges and membership dramatically increased to 858,050 by 1875. Unusual for its time, the Grange also encouraged women and teens, old enough to draw a plow, to participate.

Known as the oldest American agricultural advocacy group, the Grange is credited with successfully lobbying for the regulation of railroad transportation and grain warehouse costs, as well as for the Cooperative Extension Service (now the National Institute of Food and Agriculture), free rural mail delivery, and the Farm Credit system. They also advocated for temperance, the direct election of Senators, and women's suffrage. By the 1920s, as political parties had taken up many of the Grange causes, local Granges shifted their focus more on community service. However to this day, the state and national levels of the Grange remain a political force that continues to lobby for policies affecting free trade and farm policy.

A local organization built through mutual cooperation

The Old Lyme Grange #162 began fairly late in the Grange movement in 1905 when some members of the Lyme Grange, under the leadership of Stephen Sterling, organized more than thirty signers to become charter members. The women organized under the name of the Grange Aid Society and immediately began building up a fund in the hopes that the Old Lyme Grange might one day have its own home. In 1910, the Old Lyme Gun Club, located near the Lieutenant River, along what is now Maple Avenue, came up for sale and the ladies purchased it. However, the building was on land leased from the heirs of the S. E. Huntington family, so they continued saving money and looking for land. In 1928, the lot that is now 55 Lyme Street, adjacent to the Center School, became available. Against the advice of the men, the ladies of the Grange Aid Society purchased it for the sum of $1,700. The members then got to work investing a considerable amount of energy in fundraising and sweat equity. Their efforts began by relocating the home that was on the lot, digging and laying stones for the cellar, and culminated with a team of oxen hauling the Gun Club building onto the new foundation. The building was enlarged and refurbished and in February 1929 the new hall was dedicated. For several years the members of the Grange worked hard to raise funds to pay off the $2,200 mortgage. This involved numerous fundraisers, including fairs, box suppers, and dances, as well as selling advertisements on the large painted, two-sided backdrop for the hall's stage. By October 1931 they had raised enough to retire the debt.

Over the years the Old Lyme Grange has striven to be an asset to the community. Early on, when agriculture was part of everyday life in Old Lyme, meetings would combine degree-work for the members, speakers on topics relating to agriculture or practical household management, and planning sessions for spirited community entertainments. Often, the Old Lyme Grange allowed their hall to be used for community purposes. For a while, when more school lunch space was needed the Grange Hall facilities were used. The town's kindergarten also met in the hall until its own building could be completed. More recently, in the 1990s, a theatrical group called The Players II used the hall for plays and the Democratic Party of Old Lyme used the space as its election headquarters every fall. As agricultural concerns became less important to members, they focused increasingly on service to the community including volunteering with the soup kitchen, purchasing needed items for local service organizations, planting flowers in town, and presenting awards to students and the first Citizens of the Year.

As the percentage of Americans working in agriculture has declined from approximately thirty percent at the beginning of the twentieth century to less than two percent today, Grange membership has fallen considerably. Likewise, the population of Old Lyme has similarly changed as has the needs of the community. The Old Lyme Historical Society is now in the midst of a capital campaign to purchase the Old Lyme Grange property. If all goes according to plan, the hall at 55 Lyme Street will begin a new life and, once again through the cooperative efforts of the community, it will be transformed into a fine center focused on the preservation and interpretation of the rich history of Old Lyme.

Special thanks to Carolyn Wakeman, The Charm of the Place, Old Lyme in the 1920s, (2011), Old Lyme Historical Society.

Florence Griswold Museum

Lucien Abrams, Déjeuner en Provence, ca. 1910. Oil on canvas 24 1/8 x 19 3/4 inches, Collection of the McNay Art Museum

Saturday, May 3 is Free Day, filled with great art, creative fun, and beautiful views!

Florence Griswold Museum presents two exhibitions on view through June 1. Lyme Artists Abroad demonstrates how the artists who traveled to Old Lyme during the early twentieth-century brought with them a wealth of experiences and influences gathered during travels across the globe. This focused exhibition looks at the eclectic styles and techniques cultivated abroad by American artists such as Harry Hoffman, William Henry Howe, and Willard Metcalf.

Lucien Abrams: A Cosmopolitan in Connecticut opens March 21. Organized by the Old Jail Art Center in Albany, Texas, it is the first exhibition to examine Abrams' work. Algerian watering holes, New England circus tents, and shady plazas of the American southwest are just a few of his diverse subjects. Abrams is an important figure in the evolution of American Impressionism in the 20th century, with his work representing an attempt to maintain the vitality of such a key modern movement.

The entire community is invited to the Museum's annual Free Day, Saturday, May 3 from 10:00 am to 5:00 pm. It is a great time to gather family and friends for a day of exciting programs, great art, and beautiful views. Visitors can explore art exhibitions, tour the Florence Griswold House, and wander historic gardens. All ages will enjoy playing gallery games, making art, visiting an artist's studio, or just relaxing by the Lieutenant River.

Art Colony Camp spaces fill quickly. Sign up soon for week-long camps for grades 1-6. Campers investigate art exhibitions, paint, play games, and more. Visit FlorenceGriswoldMuseum.org for more information.
